Theory and Practice

WSI-Mitteilungen is an academic journal with a focus on practical and policy-related issues. It provides up-to-date information on research results in the fields of labour, economy and social affairs, encourages an interdisciplinary exchange of ideas and provides a source of reference for players in the fields of labour relations, economics and practical policy making. WSI-Mitteilungen communicates complex information in a structured and accessible form. A double-blind peer review process guarantees the standards of scientific papers. Short evaluations, commentaries and practical examples reflect current socio-political problems, and proposed solutions are discussed. WSI-Mitteilungen is published in German.

Themes regularly addressed:

- Labour market, social and distribution policy
- Labour policy
- Labour relations and collective agreement policy
- Education and training policy
- Gender relations and equality policy
- Macroeconomics, economic and fiscal policy
- European integration and globalisation

WSI-Mitteilungen is published by the Institute of Economic and Social Research (WSI) of the Hans Böckler Foundation. The journal is published six times per year, with three issues on a range of themes and three special issues.

Analysis, News, Discussion

Articles take an empirical and theoretical view of socially relevant developments with the aim of extending scientific and practical knowledge. They are subject to review by two referees under a double-blind peer review process.

WSI reports appear at regular intervals and analyse collective bargaining policy and wage trends in Germany and Europe as well as distribution of social wealth in Germany.

Research reports present up-to-date findings from empirical research, data analyses and surveys of the current state of research.

Practice-based findings present reports and assessments of current policy and trade union developments by academics and practitioners.

Debate offers a forum for discussion of controversial scholarly or political issues.

Book reviews introduce new publications in the fields of social and economic sciences.

The editors welcome submissions of manuscripts.
